

CHRIS COSPER

HEAD OF CONSULTING

BACKGROUND

With an extensive consulting background in healthcare, manufacturing, technology, retail, and family-owned businesses, Chris provides a depth and breadth of experience that makes her an invaluable resource. Clients who have worked with Chris appreciate her commitment to their success. She has a reputation for creating win-win solutions, driving innovation, and empowering teams.

In addition to her consulting background, Chris is a former CEO who understands first-hand the challenges and complexities of leading a mid-market company in times of growth and change. As the CEO of The Warren Featherbone Company, a U.S.-based children's apparel manufacturer, Chris led the company's growth via new products, new markets, and new partnerships resulting in a successful exit. Subsequently, she was tapped to serve as interim CEO for a company navigating a crisis. In this role, she pulled the team together and successfully implemented clear strategies and execution habits to turn the ship around.

Prior to joining Rhythm Systems as part of the executive team, she served as principal at Change Partners, LLC, a consulting company focused on corporate culture as a driving force behind company success.

Today, as Head of Consulting at Rhythm Systems, she not only continues to work directly with clients but also leads and mentors a staff of highly sought after consultants who have facilitated thousands of consulting sessions around the world and across a wide spectrum of industries.

Chris holds a BS in Management from Georgia Tech and an MBA in Leadership from Brenau University and is co-author of our best-selling book, Predictable Results: How Successful Companies Tackle Growth Challenges and Win. She enjoys traveling with friends and family and serves her community as a member of multiple non-profit boards.